

Iowa Community College Certified Nurse Assistant Training and Certification

Iowa's Community Colleges offer training for individuals interested in becoming certified nursing assistants (CNAs). The colleges offer both classroom studies and hands-on clinical training. Written and skills testing also are provided by the schools for anyone interested. The links below are connected to the course and testing information for each Community College. Contact information is also listed. If testing availability does not fit your schedule, please contact the representation at your nearest Community College for other options.
